De Waard Business

De Waard has had a presence on Dutch campsites for over 70 years. As an iconic brand, its products are renowned not only for their quality, but also for their striking design.

De Waard Business is a long-standing and trusted provider of unique accommodation for campsites, holiday parks, events and festivals.

Custom made

If you are looking for a special type of tent for your campsite or holiday park and it's not available in our standard range, feel free to contact us. In our factory, we design and produce custom-made tents too.

Groundbreaking Design

De Waard's origin dates back to 1948. Machiel de Waard, who was a sailmaker for the Royal Netherlands Navy, designed the first tent at the Lepelaar campsite: the Albatross. Responding to the need for a tent that never topples over, he started drawing on the back of an envelope. The tent was designed in such a way that it could withstand strong gusts of wind and provide comfortable family accommodation. Until then, tents had been square. That's why the Royal Dutch Touring Club spoke about "that crazy tent of De Waard". At that time, it was customary to dig a trench round a tent to keep out any water. De Waard's tents offered a revolutionary solution; a fixed and sewn-in waterproof groundsheet.

Exceptional Quality

Now, over 70 years later, the Albatross is still part of De Waard's range. Over the years, it has continued to adapt to changing needs. It has all the features of the original, but we've adapted both its size and functionality so it meets current-day demands. The Albatross was soon joined in the range by other tents, and it continues to expand even now. Again and again, we come up with new designs that are unique but share certain essential characteristics. It's our passion to produce tents of exceptional quality, and that will never change. At De Waard, we carefully select the best and most sustainable raw materials, and our craftsmen make every tent with great affection, largely by hand. This combination of the best materials and a traditional production process makes our tents extremely strong. It is the same love that a camping enthusiast feels when they take down their De Waard tent from the attic, ready for making new memories.

Lifelong Dependability

Due to its high quality and long service, a De Waard is not just a tent, but a tent for life. It's the place where love arises, where you see your children grow up, where you decide to completely change your life and where you enjoy your old age. And, whether you're pitching your tent around the world, kicking back at a campsite nearer home, enjoying your old age at a campsite or staying in it during an event or at a festival, when you hear the sound of that zip opening, it feels like coming home.

Strong Willow

Because of its straight walls, the Strong Willow is very spacious inside and has a beautiful appearance from the outside. Your guests can make the most of the summer under the canopy and, when the weather's not so good, there's enough space inside for everyone to be cozy. This tent can accommodate up to six people.

The inner tent is not connected with the roof, which provides a pleasant climate for living and sleeping. When it gets warmer, the backdoor can be easily unzipped for additional ventilation.

Compact Fir

The Compact Fir has a striking tipi shape and a beautiful canopy that stops the rain getting in. It sleeps up to three people. Pitch a few in a row or around a campfire and they immediately get any new arrival in the mood to start camping. A number of Compact Firs combined with a Clover Leaf would complete the picture.

The Compact Fir can be pitched in 10 minutes max.
